

Black Lodge

World Premiere | October 1 & 2, 2022

Philadelphia Film Center

Part of Opera Philadelphia's Festival O22 and the 2022 Philadelphia Fringe Festival

Trapped in a nightmarish Bardo, a place between death and rebirth, a tormented writer (Timur) faces down demons of his own making in Black Lodge, premiering Oct. 1 & 2 at the Philadelphia Film Center.

Film still by Matthew Soltesz courtesy of Beth Morrison Projects

Performer Jennifer Harrison Newman in a scene from Black Lodge, premiering Oct. 1 & 2 at the Philadelphia Film Center.

Film still by Matthew Soltesz courtesy of Beth Morrison Projects

A woman is at the center of all Timur's afterlife encounters. She is the subject of his life's greatest regret, and she materializes everywhere in this Otherworld in Black Lodge, premiering Oct. 1 & 2 at the Philadelphia Film Center.

Film still by Matthew Soltesz courtesy of Beth Morrison Projects

Trapped in a nightmarish Bardo, a place between death and rebirth, a tormented writer (Timur) faces down demons of his own making in Black Lodge, premiering Oct. 1 & 2 at the Philadelphia Film Center.

Film still by Matthew Soltesz courtesy of Beth Morrison Projects

Trapped in a nightmarish Bardo, a place between death and rebirth, a tormented writer (Timur) faces down demons of his own making in Black Lodge, premiering Oct. 1 & 2 at the Philadelphia Film Center.

Film still by Matthew Soltesz courtesy of Beth Morrison Projects